Music and oratory of an unusual character attracted many persons yesterday afternoon to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernesto G. Fobbri, 7 East Ninety fifth street, their object of assembling being to aid a fund for war erphans of Southern Italy. The entertainment was held in the library of thu house, a room of Italian architecture, two stories in height and large enough to seat three bundred persons. The programme began with an organ prelude popular in Florence in 180. It was played by Mr. Bimboni. The madrigas for mixed voices, "La Violetta in su [Erbetta" was heard, the singers being in the gallery. Miss Affeen Tine then without accompaniment three medeval Latin songs.
